

Andrés Camacho

Andres Camacho Donezar is the Director of the Mobility Unit at Ferrovial, one of the leading infrastructure companies in the world. He started his career in investment banking in Goldman Sachs and then moved to ACS to work in their M&A department. In 2008 he joined Ferrovial Services and was head of Strategy until he was promoted to his current position in 2019. Andres obtained in 1999 a Bachelor in Business Administration from Deusto University (Bilbao, Spain) with a specialization in Finance from the ESCP (Paris, France). He also holds a MSc in Local Economic Development by the London School of Economics (LSE)